Your tickets should have you depart from Ghana on February 20th, 2026.

Your tour begins when you arrive in Ghana on February 11th and ends when we see you off at the airport on February 20th, 2026.

Ghana Travel Requirements

Ghana is a tourist-friendly destination, but it is important that you are aware of travel requirements and have your travel documents ready well before your departure date. Please read the following information carefully.

Passports and Visas

A valid passport is required for all international travel. Your passport must be valid for at least six months after the date of your scheduled arrival back in the United States. Check your passport expiration date to be sure it meets this requirement and if necessary, apply for a renewal as soon as possible. You will not be allowed to board your departure flight from United States if your passport expiration date is within six months of your scheduled return date.

You must also have a valid visa to enter Ghana. For further information, contact the Embassy of Ghana in Washington DC at visa@ghanaembassydc.org or telephone at (202) 686-4520.

We recommend contacting a visa service provider if you need further assistance obtaining your visa.

Please Note: You should not submit your application earlier than 90 days before your departure date. So, your visa application should be submitted no earlier than the beginning- of November 2025.

Immunization and Medical Information

Yellow Fever:

Travelers above nine (9) months old who come to Ghana must have been vaccinated against Yellow Fever at least ten days before the proposed travel date. Where already vaccinated, the duration of the vaccination status should not be more than ten years before entering Ghana.

However, travelers over 60 years of age can obtain a Medical Letter of Exemption (MLOE) from their healthcare provider if he/she advises that the individual should not receive a Yellow Fever vaccination.

If you obtain a Medical Letter of Exemption, it should be included with your travel documents.

If you get the Yellow Fever vaccine, be sure this is indicated in your yellow International Certificate of Vaccination or Prophylaxis (ICVP). It is your responsibility to comply with all immunization requirements.

Malaria Prevention and Other Immunizations:

Your doctor might also recommend other vaccinations which are not mandatory for travel to Ghana. It is up to you to decide if you take any or all such recommended vaccinations as they are not required for entry into Ghana.

While it is not mandatory, we strongly recommend that you acquire anti-malarial medication. Malaria is a serious potential (but treatable) health threat, and you should take necessary precautions to minimize your risk.

It is also a good idea to bring your favorite mosquito repellant to further protect yourself from mosquitos.

Prescription Medications:

If you take prescription medication, you are responsible for determining their legality in Ghana and note the following:

- We advise you to bring enough of your medication with you.
- Always keep your medication in the original container.
- Carry a copy of your prescription(s).
- Pack your medicine in your carry-on luggage not your checked luggage.

Travel Insurance

Travel Insurance is not included in your package. However, it is strongly recommended that you purchase travel insurance to cover any unexpected event that might interrupt or prevent your travel. Our company offers optional travel insurance through Allianz Global, a leader in the travel insurance field. You can click on the link below or go to our website, www.africanconnections-usa.com, to get a quote.

Shopping in Ghana

You will love shopping in Ghana! There are countless opportunities to buy so many unique items. You can buy beautiful and tailor-made clothes for you, and you will be overwhelmed with the choices of beautiful and unique ready-made clothes on offer. There will be art, 18 kt gold jewelry, beads, wood sculptures, baskets, brass, and so much more!

With all the bargains and beautiful items you will find in Ghana, you shouldn't be surprised if you end up paying more than your airline's baggage allowance. If this happens, you have several options. You can pay the excess baggage fee your airline charges and carry the extra baggage with you, or you might decide to air freight or ship items.

Clothing and Packing

You probably have a two-checked bag allowance. We strongly recommend that you only pack one suitcase and bring one empty suitcase when you come to Ghana, so you have an extra suitcase for the things you buy in Ghana.

Sometimes, the question arises as to whether it would be best to bring one suitcase and buy a second in Ghana. This is not recommended as suitcases are expensive in Ghana, and the selection and quality might not be what you expect.

Just in case you exceed the airline's baggage requirement, we recommend that you carefully review the airline's excess baggage rules and fees before you arrive in Ghana.

It is advisable to pack lightly. You will no doubt buy clothing while in Ghana, and there will be opportunities for you to have your clothes washed at the hotels at very reasonable prices. Bring a few interchangeable outfits that are comfortable and washable. Cotton or other fabrics that breathe will help you stay comfortable. It will be warm in Ghana.

We advise that you bring a light sweater or jacket for evenings and early mornings and wear comfortable shoes or sandals.

Don't bring electrical appliances and gadgets. The electric outlets in Ghana are 220 volts, while U.S. appliances are 110 volts. This means you cannot use your U.S. small appliances and devices in Ghana. The exceptions are laptops, phone chargers, and other such devices, which are usually universal and should work in Ghana. You might need an adapter for these devices, however, as the outlets in Ghana are in a different shape from those commonly found in the U.S.

You can bring your own adapter or buy one when you arrive as adapters are very inexpensive in Ghana and are readily available.

Toiletries/Personal Items

Be sure you bring all your toiletries and personal items. While you will have opportunities to buy such things in Ghana, you might not be able to find the brands you prefer.

Customs Requirements

Passengers' obligations at Ghana Customs are outlined on the Ghana Revenue Authority website, see GRA – Ghana Revenue Authority for details.

When you arrive in Ghana you will pass through Ghana Customs, and you might be asked if you have anything to declare. You must declare any commercial goods or currency more than $10,000 you bring into Ghana.

Money/Credit and Debit Cards/ATM's:

Cash

There is no limit on how much money you can bring into Ghana. However, as stated above, if you bring in more than $10,000 in cash, you must declare it when you pass through customs on entry. If you bring in less than $10,000, there is no need to declare any cash that you bring in.

You will have several opportunities to change your dollars for the local currency during your stay in Ghana. Please note that it is advisable that you bring any cash that you bring in either $100 or $50 bills, as smaller denominations will be exchanged for a significantly lower exchange rate.

ATMs

There are ATMs in all the major cities you visit, but you will pay an international fee and a local bank fee for ATM transactions in addition to possibly receiving a lower exchange rate for each transaction.

Credit and Debit Cards

There will be a few places where you can use your credit or debit card, but for the most part, Ghana is a cash economy. If you do intend to use your debit or credit card, when this option is available, you should inform your bank that you are traveling to Ghana to prevent a fraud alert or possible block of your card when you try to use it in Ghana.

Also, note that many businesses that take debit or credit cards use POS equipment that requires a PIN number. While we all know our debit card PIN number, most of us do not have or know our credit card PIN number. So, if you intend to use a credit card, contact your bank and make sure you have and know the PIN number associated with the card.

Note: Visa and Mastercard are widely accepted in Ghana. Just a few merchants accept American Express and Discover is not accepted anywhere in Ghana.

Food and Water

Your tour package includes breakfast daily, a Welcome Dinner with cultural performances, and a Departure Dinner with cultural performances.

You will be able to buy meals that are not included in the tour package at restaurants that we have carefully selected. There will be many food choices, and you will be able to sample delicious Ghanaian dishes as well as more familiar dishes. The average cost of a meal with a soft drink and water in Ghana ranges from $15-$25.

Bottled water is readily available. However, the water in all the hotels and restaurants selected for you is potable and safe to drink or use when brushing your teeth. Using the ice cubes provided at restaurants and your hotel is also safe.

While some of your favorite snacks might be available in Ghana, and we will make regular stops for you to stock up on snacks, fruit, and drinks during the trip, you should bring the special snacks you prefer.

Hotels and Restaurants in Ghana:

Hotels

You will be staying at hotels carefully selected to ensure your comfort. These hotels are highly rated, with clean, comfortable rooms and well-trained staff. However, standards might vary from those to which you might be accustomed.

For example, while bath towels and hand towels are available and supplied at all the selected hotels, facecloths are generally not available. So, you should bring your own face clothes.

Rest assured, our ground staff will be available to address any issue that might arise.

Restaurants

We have carefully selected each restaurant you will visit on your tour. These restaurants will provide clean, wholesome food, and you will have the choice of local Ghanaian dishes or more familiar continental dishes.

While the food is tasty, Ghanaian restaurants are known for slow service, so you might have to exercise patience before your meal arrives. Whenever possible, our staff will help you place your order before arrival at a restaurant to reduce the waiting time.

Cell Phone/Data Usage and Internet Service:

Before your departure to Ghana, contact your mobile phone service provider and request international data service to access WhatsApp or similar apps for internet-based communications. Such communications are significantly less costly than international roaming charges.

You could also ask for a one-month international voice package. While this could be more expensive, it is cheaper than the bill you will receive if you make calls without a call package.

Suppose you make or receive international calls while you are in Ghana, and you do not have the appropriate international call/data packages. In that case, you will be shocked when you receive your telephone service billing statement.

Also, disable your data roaming function as soon as you arrive to prevent billing shocks!

Mobile phone and internet services are available in Ghana. Upon arrival tourists may purchase tourist sim cards for use in their unlocked phones. You can purchase an unlocked phone in Ghana for less than $50. The local service provider will then activate your SIM card for the period of your stay in Ghana.

Other information that might be helpful as you prepare for your trip:

Country Profile

Ghana has a reputation for being one of the friendliest countries in Africa. With unspoilt beaches, natural attractions, and vibrant cosmopolitan cities, Ghana has a rich ethnic diversity, abundant historical legacies, a strong cultural heritage, and traditions. Visitors to Ghana can expect to be greeted by a sense of history and met with exceptional hospitality that has long been associated with its people.

Geography:

Ghana, which lies in the center of the West African coast, shares borders with the three French-speaking nations of Côte d'Ivoire to the west, Togo to the east, and Burkina Faso (Burkina, formerly Upper Volta) to the north. To the south are the Gulf of Guinea and the Atlantic Ocean.

With a total area of 109,472 square miles, Ghana is about twice the size of the state of New York. Its topography is varied and consists of tropical forests, savannahs, mountains, and coastal ranges.

While much of Ghana is rural there are many metropolitan areas including Accra the capital city that has an estimated population of 4 million, and Kumasi which has an estimated population of 3.5 million.

Economy:

Ghana has natural resources, including gold, oil, and bauxite. Agriculture accounts for roughly one-third of Ghana's GDP and employs more than half of the workforce. In addition, the economy is based on manufacturing, automotive and ship construction and is a commercial and business hub for West Africa.

The Currency

The Ghanaian Cedi is the currency of Ghana. The currency code for Cedis is GHS, and the symbol is GH¢. The cedi to dollar exchange rate changes frequently. You will be able to exchange dollars for cedis when you arrive in Ghana at the prevailing rate at that time. There is no limit on the amount of cash you bring into Ghana, but you must declare any amounts over $10,000. Lesser amounts do not need to be declared.

Language:

Ghana's official language is English, and all schoolchildren learn It early in life. Therefore, you should not have difficulty communicating with locals and thoroughly enjoying every aspect of your stay in Ghana.

Government:

The constitution of Ghana was adopted in 1992, establishing a constitutional democratic government consisting of three branches: The Executive, Parliament, and Judiciary.

Ghana is divided into sixteen regions. The President, Vice President, and members of Parliament are elected by popular vote. Elections are held once every four years.

Current President: His Excellency Nana Addo Dankwa Akufo-Addo

Current Vice-President : Dr. Mahamudu Bawumia

History:

The country now known as Ghana has a long and rich history. Its history includes great kingdoms and ancient empires. Before the Europeans arrived in search of gold, the west coast of Africa was part of an ancient trade route. In 1471, Portuguese traders came ashore and noticed that the local people wore gold jewelry. People from Portugal, Denmark, the Netherlands, Germany, and Britain came to the Gold Coast to search for gold and subsequently engaged in the transatlantic slave trade.

After the British took control of the Gold Coast, it was declared a colony of the British Empire. In 1957, the Gold Coast gained its independence from Britain and became known as Ghana.

Climate:

The weather is generally warm and comparatively dry along the southeast coast, hot and humid in the southwest, and hot and dry in the north. Ghana's climate is tropical, but temperatures vary according to the season and elevation. The temperature variations, both annually and daily, are quite minor. The average daily temperature is 30°C (86°F).

The coolest time of year is between June and September when the main rainfall occurs; the minimum temperature is around 23°C (73°F), with clear skies and lush growth in most of the country. In northern Ghana, two rainy seasons occur: April through June and September to November. Ghana Meteorological Agency – Home Page: <https://www.meteo.gov.gh/>

In February, Ghana experiences dry and warm weather conditions across the country, falling within the harmattan season. The northern regions, such as Tamale and Bolgatanga, are typically hotter and drier, with daytime temperatures ranging from 70°F to 100°F (21°C to 38°C), accompanied by dusty winds from the Sahara. The southern areas, including Accra and Kumasi, are slightly cooler, with average temperatures ranging between 73°F and 90°F (23°C to 32°C). Rainfall is scarce in most regions, and humidity levels are generally lower than in rainy seasons. February is characterized by clear skies, dry air, and warm days, making it one of the driest months in Ghana.
